

Riddles about the Middle Ages written by the pupils in 5D

● He was a farmer. He ploughed and sowed. He built barns. He worked for a Lord.

- a. a monk                      b. a page                      c. a peasant

● He had a sword. He had an armour. He protected the King. He went to battles.

- a. the King                      b. a peasant                      c. a knight

● He was English . He was tall. He was the King of England. He reigned for ten years .

- a. Richard the Lionheart                      b. William the Conqueror                      c. Prince John

● He was English. He was rich. He lived in a castle. He was powerful.

- a. the King                      b. a peasant                      c. a monk

● He prayed. He was from a church. He didn't marry. He helped the poor.

- a. a knight                      b. a monk                      c. the King

● He had a bow. He lived in the woods. He helped the peasants. He was generous.

- a. Zorro                      b. the knight                      c. Robin Hood

● It protected the knight's body. It was made of metal. It was a weapon of defense. It was heavy.

- a. an armour                      b. a shield                      c. a sword

● She was the king's daughter. She often wore dresses. She was the prince's sister. She was often loved by peasants.

- a. a princess                      b. a queen                      c. a lady

● He was one of the greatest kings of the Middle-Ages. He was Pepin le Bref's son. He invented school. His dynasty was the Carolingians. He was a great emperor .

- a. King Arthur                      b. Charlemagne                      c. William the Conqueror

● He was English. He lived in the south of England. He had a sword which was magic. He went to live to Camelot.

- a. Richard the Lionheart                      b. Hector                      c. King Arthur

● He was born in Oxford. He was Robin Hood's enemy. He was Richard the Lionheart's brother. He succeeded him.

- a. Robin Hood                      b. Prince John                      c. Edward the Confessor

● He was a medieval musician and singer. He entertained the King and his court. He had extravagant clothing. Thanks to his work, everyone loved him.

- a. a minstrel                      b. a knight                      c. a herald

● He was trained from an early age. He had been dubbed for his title. He had heavy equipment. He participated in tournaments. He went to war.

- a. a peasant                      b. the king                      c. a knight